1 Introduction

The project website <http://www.in2dreams.eu> will be one of the main communication tools, allowing the dissemination of all the public information of the project to a wide audience. The public website is designed to create awareness and interest about the project by making up-to-date information available in a concise but exhaustive manner.

The website presents information about the project objectives, structure, impacts and expected outcomes. There will be up-to-date information on the project results, including public reports and publications deriving from the project work. The site will advertise project events, including conferences and workshops. It also offers links to other relevant sites and links to partners' websites. The contact details of the coordinator are also included.

The webpage is managed by the coordinator of the project which will ensure that documents and news are uploaded regularly. The webpage will be maintained during the lifetime of the project and will be active with the latest information at least three years after the end of the project. The homepage of the website is depicted in the figure below.

2 Structure of the Website

2.1 Overview

The content of the website has been organized into different sections as shown in the navigation bar of Figure 2.

When accessing the website, the user is presented with the homepage, which represents the entry point for all website visitors, providing a brief overview of the project, the latest news and events, as well as links to other related projects of Shift2Rail and more. Detailed information of the project can be found using the secondary navigation as shown in Figure 2 or by using the search bar above it.

The website also contains a private area as shown on the right-hand side of the navigation bar (Figure 2), accessible only through a login process and primarily reserved to consortium members. This private area, called Cooperation Tool, takes the user to an intranet platform that operates as a shared library for document templates, reports, deliverables etc. This tool ensures that all documents related to the project are organized and available to all project beneficiaries.
